

WEEKLY FISH MARKET.

Trade remains quiet in salt fish but salt mackerel are now being moved quite readily. On cured fish in lots there has been quite a drop, but this has not as yet affected the price of salt or fresh fish from vessels in fare lots although the market is not quite as strong as it was. The salt bankers come along slowly, only one arriving this week, but several are looked for next week. Mackerel are reported in goodly quantities in the vicinity of the South Shoal lightship, but they are very wild and it is not frequently that any of the vessels stop a school. Most of the mackerel caught recently have been run to market fresh.

The receipts at this port for the week ending July 2 are 462,000 lbs. salt cod.
172,000 lbs. fresh cod.
335,000 lbs. hake.
130,000 lbs. cusk.
1111 bbls. salt mackerel.
245 bbls. fresh mackerel.
79,000 lbs. halibut.
85,000 lbs. haddock.
205 bbls. fresh porgies.
10 bbls. bluebacks.
310 bbls. shed.
700 qts. cured fish.
500 lbs. swordfish.
5000 lbs. flitched halibut.

Mackerel Notes.

Sch. Arbutus, Capt. Joseph J. Lyle, arrived from the fishing ground around the South Shoal lightship early this morning with 200 barrels of salt mackerel. The fish were taken Thursday and the crew were busily engaged this forenoon in topping up and heading the barrels, most of the trip being still on deck. It was really quite a sight for the interested ones, and put one in mind faintly of the balcyon mackerel days of years ago.

Boston.

Sch. Carrie F. Roberts, 3000 haddock, 1000 cod, 6000 hake.
Sch. Mina Swim, 3000 haddock, 10,000 cod. Haddock, $1.50 to $2.25; large cod, $2.50; market cod, $1.65; hake, $1.60.

July 5

FINE COD FARE.

Sch. J. J. Flaherty Has Big Dory Handline Trip.

Sch. J. J. Flaherty, Capt. LeBlanc, arrived yesterday from the Sable Island ground with a splendid fare of salt cod. The vessel is engaged in dory handlining and has several times been reported as doing well, so it was no surprise when she brought home between 240,000 and 250,000 pounds of fish.

Capt. LeBlanc is a noted fisherman and is evidently living up to his big reputation.

This is an unusually large fare for a dory handliner so early in the season, especially where the bankers as a whole have not been finding fish very plentiful.

Sch. Speculator, Capt. William Corkum, arrived this morning with 130 barrels of salt mackerel and 1000 fresh mackerel, the latter being taken off Race Point.

July 5

Fishing Fleet Movements.

Sch. Joseph W. Lufkin was at Boothbay Harbor on Saturday.

Sch. Fannie Reed has arrived at Portland after a two months' shacking. The crew shared $190 each and the vessel will now fit for swordfishing.

Sch. Matamora was at Portland on Friday. Sloop Minerva, mackereling, arrived at Portland on Saturday.

Sch. Caroline Vought arrived at Canso on Friday.

Sch. Atalanta, flitted halibuting, arrived at Louisburg on June 28, and sailed the same day.

Good Stock.

Sch. Kineo, Capt. John G. Stream, stocked $2450 on her recent 12 days fresh fishing trip to Georges, the crew sharing $74.09 net.

Sch. Nourmahal, Capt. Wallace Parsons, stocked $2100 on her recent seining trip, the crew shared $48.62.

Good Trip.

Sch. Volant, Capt. Frank Stream, arrived from a short trip to Georges yesterday with a fine fare of 70,000 pounds of fresh fish, 10,000 pounds of salt cod and 7000 pounds of halibut.

HAS DONE WELL.

Capt. Joseph Cusick Has Stocked $9100 in Two Trips.

Sch. Helen G. Wells, Capt. Joseph Cusick, has stocked $9100 on her two bank trips, giving her the lead of the salt bank fleet. Capt. Cusick is now fitting the new sch. Independence II. for a salt trip, which will be the third of the season for him.

Porgies in Ipswich Bay.

A fleet of ten porgy steamers went out in Ipswich Bay yesterday working on fish. Some of the steamers were very close in shore, the schools probably being up in shoal water.

July 6

HIGH LINE NETTERS.

Capt. Procter of Sch. Florida Claims Honor.

Sch. M. Madeleine, Capt. Brewer Also Did Well.

Some of the netting fleet out south this spring made some big stocks and shares.

Capt. Edward Procter of the sch. Florida, which arrived home recently, claims the high line honor with a share for each man of the crew of $375.

Sch. M. Madeleine, Capt. Roland Brewer, also made a big record among the netters, making a stock of $3500 on which the crew of eight men shared $235 each. These are big starts on the years work. The M. Madeleine will now fit for seining.

July 6

FINED $400 ON TWO CHARGES.

VIOLATED CUSTOMS LAWS.

Schooner Escaped from Officials but Was Recaptured.

The St. John's, N. F., Herald of June 27 prints the following:

"Many of the captains of American fishing vessels, who visit our coasts, have an idea that the laws of Newfoundland do not apply to them, and that they are at liberty to violate them whenever opportunity offers. Quite a lot of smuggling has been carried in the past by these smart Yankee skippers, and owing to the large coast line we have to guard, the majority of offenders have escaped. Inspector O'Reilly has been on the lookout this spring for several of these gentry, who having brought from Gloucester a surplus of stores, have disposed of some of them to the fishermen without the required entry being made and duty being paid.

"In April last sch. Mabel R. Hines, Lovett Hines, master, entered St. Jacques, and the captain reported a quantity of ships stores, namely: rubber boots, leather boots, oil clothes, underwear, tobacco, etc., etc., being the usual slop chest supply. The schooner went into Fortune Bay seeking bait and visiting several of the harbors made the trip more of a trading voyage than anything else.

"The doings of the master of this schooner came to the knowledge of the inspector of our revenue protection service and an inquiry was made, with the result that information was laid before Magistrate Avery and a warrant issued for the arrest of Capt. Hines. The assistant collector of customs was notified and he gave orders to all the officers west to have the vessel detained, should she arrive at any western port.

"On Friday, the 19th instant, the schooner entered Cape Broyle and sub-collector of the port attempted to detain her, but the captain blustered and ordered the sub-collector and policeman out of the vessel, saying he would not stay there as he was in quest of bait. He left the next morning without entering or clearing his vessel, thus violating the customs law relating to entry and clearance.

"The most serious breach of the law, however, was the taking away of the schooner when the officer had told him she was detained.

"The 221st section of the Customs Act says, 'Every person who either pretending to be the owner or not, either secretly or openly, and with or without force or violence, takes or carries away any goods, vessel, vehicle, or other thing which have been detained on suspicion, as forfeited under this Act, &c., &c., is guilty of felony.'

"When the order for Hines' detention at Cape Broyle was given, Inspector O'Reilly was notified of the fact and he left at once for that port, arriving there at 3 a. m. Tuesday morning only to find the vessel gone, no one knew where. The inspector, who has a complete knowledge of all the principal caplin resorts, concluded that Hines had gone to Trinity Bay.

"The Minister of Finance and Customs, who was on the Fiona, gave orders to make chase at once and recapture the vessel—an exciting chase then took place. The wires were used by the St. John's office, but Hines had taken care to get out of reach of all telegraphic communications.

121

"The steamship Fiona searched all the likely places as the chase proceeded, and at last, on Thursday morning, the Mabel R. Hines was found at anchor in Wild Cove, Chapel Island, Trinity Bay, as her captain fondly hoped out of the reach of the telegraph and of the myrmidons of the law. The schooner was then taken to Trinity and the case was heard before Magistrate Lilly, when the captain was fined $200 for smuggling and $200 for non-entry. We trust this action on the part of the authorities, in bringing to justice such offenders of the law will prove a salutary lesson to the captains of American fishing vessels who frequent our shores."
